

THE STU WEST SWEATINSIDER

(I hardly even know her!)

GOON CHAIRS Deemed Suitable for Gooning

Frank Gnocchi—September 4

It is no secret that everyone goons here and there. Bracken Library realizes this and embraces it. This semester, Bracken has introduced a whole array of Goon Chairs, Goon Desks, and even Goon Stations! Ball State students have expressed overwhelming support. "I have had 13 years of experience here at Bracken, and I also have 13 PHDs in the Gooning field," said The Toucher of Studebaker West. "I am elated to hear that Bracken Library has finally shown its support for the Gooning community and enabled us to express ourselves." The Federal Gooning Department, headed by the one and only R.F.K., has conducted a very real and reputable investigation on our advanced Gooning zones, and we have received three gold stars. High praise! Yet another example of wise spending from the Ball State overlords.

6-7 Meme Declared Dead by Jake Paul

Clyde Smith—September 6

On a completely unrelated note... In the world of influencers, few have the reputation that Jake Paul does. In his career, he has proven himself to be an important figure in the content creation and medicinal fields. In a recent interview, Paul made a shocking announcement:

"My boyfriend Jack Doherty and I have decided that the 6-7 meme has reached the end of its natural life. Its funeral will be held the day before our wedding. This will symbolize new beginnings while finally killing this stupid meme. All members of the Autumnal Brotherhood are invited! "

There will be a wake held for the 6-7 meme on April 9, 2026.

Ball State Athletics Reveals a Groundbreaking New Major

Basket Ball (elite secret 5th Ball bro!!)—September 67

First of all, screw the humanities. We want more athletics. Bigger stadiums. Bigger athletics. Bigger is better!

That's why the Ball State overlords and Autumnal Brotherhood have introduced a trailblazing new major,

Stu West Planker Finally Caught

Linger Cranberry—September 2

Once in a while, we have to deal with foul scofflaws around Stu West. It is important to bully them into being functional humans. Such is the case of the Stu West Planker.

Pre Malone, a Stu West resident, decided to take this situation into her own hands. She is a computer science major and enjoys interpretive line dancing in her free time. Pre Malone has long been an advocate against public planking, stating "it would be one thing if he was doing it in the privacy of his own home, but he is out in public where kids can see it". Clad in her detective outfit and holding her magnifying glass, she dedicated all of her time to finding the Stu West planker and after 4 long years of work she had finally caught him. The Stu West Planker is currently awaiting his court date in late November.

New Addition to BSU ESA Choices

Ronald King—September 1

Here at Ball state we are very accommodating for students with varying emotional needs. The introduction of emotional support animals in the dorm was a huge step forward and Ball state looks to continue to move forward in this field.

That is why the Ball State overlords are happy to introduce that labubus can be registered as emotional support animals starting in the spring semester of 2026. After receiving a brand deal, the overlords and Autumnal Brotherhood thought it appropriate to show their support for such sickening creatures.

Student Jomba Roomba is excited about this new addition. "I currently have 3 Labubus at home and they help me regulate my emotions in hard times", says Roomba, "I can't wait to bring them to campus this spring! Eek!"

Fall is around the corner!

Shaun Henry Paul Ingling- June 11

Fall is just around the corner and the Ball State overlords are eager to get the festivities started. As you may know, the Ball State Autumnal Carnival is to be held on university green on the Autumnal Brotherhood's holy day... the Autumnal equinox at midnight.

Activities include bobbing for apples, apple cider stands, a corn maze, and a bonfire. There is a secret surprise for those approved by Mike Braun himself! Introducing the Concussion major! The idea is simple: A major surrounded around understanding concussions through firsthand experience. Concussion students will be subjected to various forms of trauma that will render them concussed. Through this 8-year program, they will truly understand what it is like to be concussed regularly. The job possibilities are certainly interesting. Perfect for wrestlers and baristas!

Indiana University is currently copying Ball State and redirecting funding to create their own Concussion major. Posers.

Dining Hall Robots Declared Clankers by the DNR

Clyde Smith—September 6

The Department of Natural Robots has risen to prominence since the introduction of non-GMO robots. Ball State's numerous overlords were quick to jump on the opportunity to implement more campus bureaucracy. All robots must go through extensive GMO and drug testing before they can be put into service.

Unfortunately, the DNR recently found that numerous dining hall robots had traces of caffeine in their systems. This is sadly a telltale sign that they are wretched clankers. Ball State has announced that the Autumnal Brotherhood will be incinerating the dining hall robots at a ritualistic gathering this Saturday next to Frog Baby. Be there or be square!

MISSING: Math Powerland

Science Powerland—March 7

Prominent flat-earther Math Powerland has been missing for a while. Before his disappearance, he revealed that the CIA and Warner Brothers had been stalking him on behalf of the round earth community.

The main suspect is the Stu West pigeonmaster: Harvey Bird. Bird resides on the roof of Stu West and directs the local delivery pigeons. He also makes them shart on the Nissan Jukes and Kia Souls on campus. While his services have been greatly appreciated, he is also a strange fellow.

Many suspect that he has malicious intent, and while it has not been confirmed yet, it totally checks out. He has long been suspected to be a nepo-baby of the Autumnal Brotherhood. Further details will be revealed shortly. If you find Math Powerland, please call this number: (605) 313-4000. We will deal with him appropriately.

that can actually make it to the center of the corn maze so show out cardinals!

Remember, if you want to enter the corn maze you you must have the following:

- student id
- drivers license
- passport
- birth certificate & social security
- stool and urine sample
- a means of self defense (ie: gun, sword, bat ect.)
- proof of completion of the Autumnal Brotherhood blood oath

THIS JUST IN: THE RAPTURE IS REAL GUYS

Camden Prophetson—September 6

The local sect of the Autumnal Brotherhood has finally set the date for the rapture and it's closer than you may think! In fact the rapture is tomorrow. Are you ready?

Good news! If you have taken the Autumnal Brotherhood's blood oath you are guaranteed to be raptured and taken to heaven. No need to read any further.

However, if you foolishly did not take the oath here is a Ball State approved rapture prep list:

- make sure to have eaten at least 1 pound of papaya at least 24 hours ahead of the rapture.
 - student id
 - the charlie cardinal rosary
- Stay safe and happy rapturing!

BREAKING: Shawn Henry Paul Ingling is PISSED

English Pooklie—September 41

All readers of this paper surely know freshman Shawn Henry Paul Ingling. What you might not know is that he's very pissed at this current moment in time.

"I am SO mad right now. Like incredibly mad. And I scare myself when I get mad. I scare everyone else, too. Here's the thing... Nobody knows what I am capable of. I am capable of many things. I am a scary dude when I'm mad. Again, I scare myself when I get angry. So y'all better watch out before I get mad."

Shaun Henry Paul Ingling is the head of the Autumnal Brotherhood and will be officiating the upcoming Clanker incineration. Stay tuned!

This concludes Issue 1! Happy birthday to you!