

My Life With the

AUTUMNAL Brotherhood!

As a member of a mysterious cult, I often participate in rituals.

We call ourselves the
AUTUMNAL Brotherhood.

Every month on the 23rd,
we meet at the iconic Frog Baby Stake.

Thus, our ritual begins.

I find office supplies
around campus with the other guys. Then, we return to the Stake.

We then burn the sacrificial office supplies.

They're a small price
to pay for autumnal salvation.

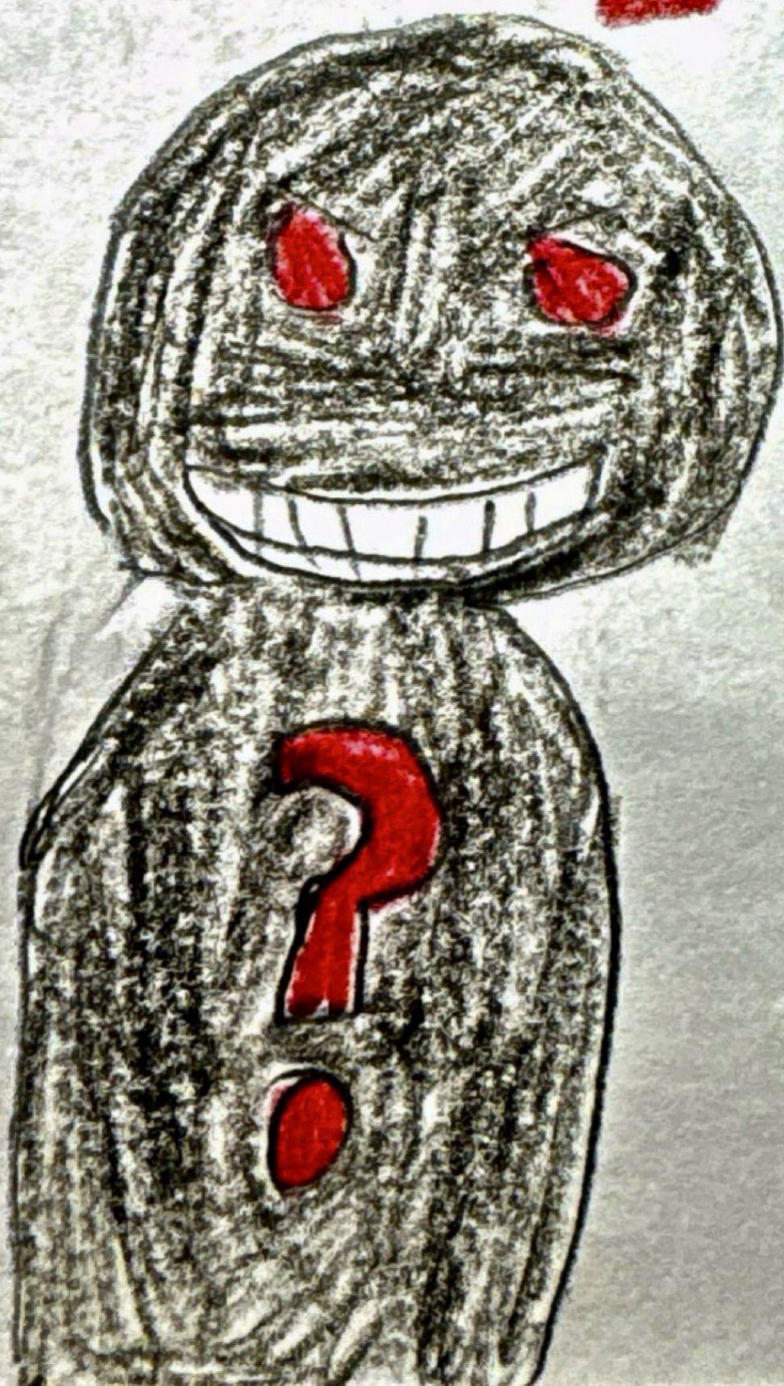

As they go up in flames,
we chant,

"Autumnal breeze, bring me home! Take these office supplies to all you know!"

Mysterious Cult folks

"Ashes around, chaos surrounds! May our cult's ringleader Shawn Henry Paul Ingling be proud!"

To finish the night, the Brothers and I get Steak & Shake after burning things at the stake.

A lovely ritual indeed!
Have an Autumnal night!
